

This holiday season...

Discover how you can make a difference in the lives of many individuals who benefit from programs and services of SaskAbilities, individuals like Sophie!

Sophie Landell is a young woman who has participated in SaskAbilities programs and services for over five years. She first took advantage of an opportunity to participate in a school-based work education program while she was still in high school. When Sophie completed high school, she participated in a client-centred vocational evaluation to assess her interests and skills. The evaluation determined she would be a great fit in the Saskatoon Branch Training Centre where she could learn and practice on-the-job skills. The programs she participated in at the Training Centre taught her how to be more flexible, cooperative and task-focused. She also learned how to work independently, improve her social skills and be more accepting of feedback.

Sophie enjoys the freedom of being able to choose the activities that fill her day and especially enjoys creative opportunities such as art class.

Over time, Sophie's interests and needs changed. That's when she became part of the new Saskatoon Branch Quality of Life Centre. The new centre provides opportunities for clients to explore different activities with their peers, both at the centre and in the community. While at the centre individuals enjoy activities like watching sports, participating in arts and crafts, life skills sessions, CFL talk, fantasy football (which not only has a social aspect but also teaches financial literacy), or simply time to lounge and visit with friends.

At the Saskatoon Branch of SaskAbilities, clients experiencing disability can choose from a variety of activities that educate, build practical skills and offer recreational opportunities. One of the goals of the programs is to respond to the individual interests of clients so they can experience the activities they enjoy with programming adapted to the changing needs of participants. The centre is proud to offer programs like Food Fit in partnership with the Saskatoon Food Bank, storytelling, cultural bridging with the Saskatoon Open Door Society, and the Comic Book Club with Amazing Stories, to name a few.

Sophie loves the colour lime green so much that she wears it almost every day. She was happy to show her creativity when it was time to paint a feature wall in the day program flex room - in her favourite colour!

Sophie is excited to be part of the new day program as it offers her an opportunity to not only enjoy socializing and recreational activities, it also provides a great venue to express her artistic talents. She is so happy to take part in creative activities. Recently Sophie was proud to participate in a group project to paint the newly renovated day program space.

This holiday season, as a special gift from Sophie, we have included an ornament of her drawing and calligraphy talents in hopes you will enjoy hanging it as much as she enjoyed making it. Please accept this gift from Sophie as a thank you for the joy she takes from every day now. She has a perpetual smile, a supportive social group, and a world of experiences that keeps growing.
